

Not Alarmed at Democratic Plans

Republican Leaders Headline Extent of Program to Ensnare Credulous Upstate Republicans Into Democratic Fold, But Are Unafraid.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28. (Special).—Republican leaders here are surprised, but hardly alarmed, at the rapid materialization of Democratic plans to capture upstate New York. Until now the G. O. P. chieftains had regarded the projected Democratic program as a gesture of defiance—a feeble effort to capitalize on Governor Roosevelt's upstate status. But one significant factor has brought to the Republicans the realization that the Democrats mean business as never before in the matter of ensnaring credulous upstate Republicans into their fold.

This tangible evidence was the establishment, directly across the street from the capitol, of a high-pressure Democratic news bureau. Manned by newspapermen skilled in the art of carefully-prepared innuendo and inference, the bureau contemplates dissemination of state and legislative news to all newspapers of the state, particularly those in the rural communities with limited news sources. Democratic as well as Republican papers will be recipients of the news, made so local when expedient as to be above the waste basket discard.

The Democrats are avowedly out to add to their assembly seats in 1930. That they have cut out for themselves a sizeable task is not to be denied.

Right now, of the 150 seats in the assembly, 61 are occupied by the minority Democrats. Of these 61, all but five are occupied by legislators from New York city, and of the upstate five, two come from Albany county and one each from Rensselaer, Oneida and Buffalo.

It stands to reason, therefore, that the Republican leaders are hardly seized with fear at a possible Democratic invasion.

The Democrats believe that now is the psychological time to strike a blow upstate and one of the reasons entering into this belief is this: That Governor Roosevelt has a strong upstate appeal.

Republicans are willing to concede that Roosevelt does strike the upstate fancy more than did Governor Smith, but at the same time, they have expressed the opinion that if they had nominated an upstate last fall to run for governor, instead of a New Yorker, as was Ottinger, the executive mansion today would be occupied by a Republican.

The 26,000-odd majority by which Roosevelt was elected, they claim, just about represents the antagonism of farmers to anything or anyone associated with the metropolis.

The G. O. P. legislative chiefs have already made plans for counter moves should they show signs of becoming formidable.

Some of the upstate Republican county organizations are notably lax, born of years of successive victories. They have become confident as well as lethargic. They awaken to perfunctory action just prior to an election, and the victory gained serves but to send them back to sleep until just prior to the next election.

These organizations, where they exist, will be told to be on their guard to make their assembly districts safe for Republicans. They will be infused with some perennial pep and admonished to repel any vestige of Democratic advance.

A second counter move the Republicans have in reserve embraces using the influence and abilities of strong and aggressive county leaders, whose fame may be as pronounced throughout the state as in their respective counties, whenever and wherever it is seen the Democrats have made a gain.

When the exigency demands it, such able leaders as Philip Elting of Ulster, W. Kingsland Macy of Nassau and Ed Conde of Schoenectady will be pressed into service.

Republican chiefs feel that so long as the Democrats upstate have such ineffective county organizations, the G. O. P. will suffer very slightly, if at all. Only in one county above the Bronx have the Democrats a powerful organization: That county is Albany.

Many Pneumonia Cases in City

So far this month twenty-four cases of pneumonia, several of which have proven fatal, have been reported to the board of health. As cases of grip are not reportable the number prevalent in the city during the present epidemic is not known, but it has been estimated that several thousand residents of the city have been stricken with the disease. With proper precautions the grip that is raging in the city and throughout the country is not dangerous.

Great Reception For Captain Fried

New York Plans Big Reception For Captain George Fried and His Mate—Similar Reception Three Years Ago.

New York, Jan. 28. (AP).—Captain George Fried and his mates of the Florida rescue were headed into another storm today—a gale of cheering and a blizzard of ticker tape.

Their course lay over the famous heroes' trail from the Battery up Broadway to the city hall to permit the city's thousands to voice their admiration for the skill and daring of the men of the steamship America, which saved 32 lives from the sinking Italian freighter 700 miles off the Virginia Capes last Wednesday.

The sound of his name echoing amid cheers against the walls of Broadway skyscrapers was not new to Captain Fried. Three years ago he met a similar reception when he docked the liner President Roosevelt after taking 25 men off the British freighter Anilaoe.

Sharing in the plaudits of the crowd and the honors which the city heaped upon the captain today were Chief Officer Harry Manning, who commanded the lifeboat in its perilous trip to the side of the sinking freighter; Nelson H. Smith, chief radio operator, and the eight members of the boat's crew.

The program for the parade and reception called for the bringing of Captain Fried and his men from Hoboken to the Battery on the city tug Macom at noon. An escort of Regulars from Governor's Island and sailors from the Navy yard was ordered for the march up Broadway.

At city hall Mayor Walker and other city officials arranged to extend the greetings of the city to the heroes and present them with gold medals. Illuminated scrolls extolling their deed also were prepared for presentation to Captain Fried, Manning and Nelson.

A luncheon was arranged at the Advertising Club after the city hall reception.

Ships In Distress On the Atlantic

Aboard Coast Guard Cutter Tampa, Jan. 28. (AP).—Indications that the disabled British steamer Silver Maple had been able to make repairs to her steering gear were received today in the first radio message received from the vessel by the Tampa.

The Silver Maple said she was proceeding at seven miles per hour and gave the ship's position at 35.23 north and 56.48 west. The new position is about 40 miles southeast of the one given yesterday.

The message also said that the northwest gale was moderating and that the barometer was rising.

New York, Jan. 28. (AP).—Two coast guard cutters were racing to the aid of the Silver Maple, a ship in distress 700 miles east of Boston today, and a tug was seeking another disabled craft between Bermuda and the Azores.

Meanwhile hope faded for the safety of steam trawler Selmer, a week overdue at Groton, Conn., from the Georges Banks.

The Silver Maple, a craft of 5,300 tons, built a year ago and owned by the Silver Line, Ltd., is westbound for New York. She carries a crew of 40.

Word received at Lloyd's office from Horta, in the Azores, said a tug had been dispatched to search for the Italian freighter Capo Vado, which was apparently in distress about midway between the Azores and Bermuda.

An SOS was picked up from the Capo Vado last Friday. Since then American stations have heard nothing from her. The British steamship Cleanteis was said to have gone to her assistance. The Capo Vado with a crew of more than 25 was bound for Baltimore.

Dry Squad Raids Newburgh Hotel

Federal officers from the Kingston office paid another visit to the Clinton Hotel at 102 Washington street, Newburgh, Sunday at 2 a. m., and there placed under arrest Frank Booty, alleged proprietor of the place. Booty was held in $500 on a charge of violation of the federal prohibition law and will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Flannery at Beacon Wednesday, January 30, at 10 o'clock.

Poultrymen May Organize Here

Farm Bureau Poultry School a Success—Committee Appointed to Make Plans for County Organization—Plan Receives Enthusiastic Support.

The three-day poultry school held at the Y. M. C. A. in Kingston last week was a big success. The attendance reached 55 on Tuesday, the second day. This indeed is very gratifying to the Farm Bureau which sponsored the school and the instructors in charge.

The first day was devoted to a discussion of rearing chicks, brooder houses, range shelters, disease of chicks and feeding. Most poultrymen are beginning to realize the importance of healthy, vigorous chicks, as an important essential in poultry keeping. The purchase of local chicks of known ancestry was strongly advised. Ulster county and New York state have some of the best poultrymen in the world, so why send to other states for chicks? It's worth thinking about.

There was much interest in the discussion of new ideas in poultry houses Tuesday forenoon. This was followed by a demonstration of culling, killing and dressing poultry. Tuesday afternoon developed the greatest interest when diseases of adult birds were covered. After the discussion, post-mortem examinations were made on birds brought in by those present. Various troubles were found and remedies suggested.

The last day the program consisted of several topics, including feeding hens, kinds of eggs the market demands, making a poultry enterprise pay and what a poultry breeder must know to be successful.

One of the most important developments of the school was the appointment of a committee to devise plans of forming a poultry association in Ulster county. This committee consists of the following: Albert Kurtz, temporary chairman; Claude Kieffer, Harry Kaplowitz, Raymond DuBois, H. P. Buchan, A. P. Kaplan, Charles H. Weiden, M. V. Bryant, Mrs. Frank Zelle and W. R. Weber.

This committee will meet in the near future. The object is to form an organization that will deal with all the problems that concern poultrymen and devise future programs for the county. This is an important step and is receiving enthusiastic support throughout the county. Later all poultry keepers will be invited to participate.

ALMANAC FORECASTS HAVE DIFFERENT EFFECTS.

Saturday, February 2, will be Candlemas Day when according to old beliefs the groundhog will come out and visualize the weather condition. There are many who "swear" that if he sees his shadow he will retire to his hibernating place and remain six weeks longer, but should he not see his shadow he will remain out.

It may be interesting to note that according to the general weather forecast for February, as given in the Farmers' Almanac for 1929, which almanac is widely circulated by the Ulster County Savings institution, the compiler prophesies that between February 1 and 3 it will be colder with local storms which will pile up the snow, interfering with travel.

This forecast, no doubt, will please the owners of teams and sleighs that haul the snow from the Kingston streets, also the snow shovelers. On the other hand the taxpayers in the city and towns of the county that foot the bills of thousands of dollars necessary to pay for snow removal and the machinery used, will have a different viewpoint of the forecast.

The sun will rise one minute earlier on Candlemas Day than it will on February 1, and will set two minutes later, making the day's length 10 hours and 44 minutes, and twilight of 1 hour and 35 minutes.

MUSICAL COMEDY BILLED FOR KINGSTON HIGH SCHOOL.

Tickets are placed on sale today at the high school and are also being sold by members of the cast. Invitations point to a record breaking sale and a second night production may be necessary.

Ambulance Calls Here.

Saturday the city ambulance removed Mrs. Georgia O'Connor from 127 O'Neill street to the Kingston Hospital, and on Sunday removed Mrs. Arthur Lahl from the Kingston Hospital to her home on Washington avenue; Irene DeGraff from 35 Henry street to the Kingston Hospital; C. E. Gardiner from 111 Gage street to the Kingston Hospital; and Stephen Glowinski from 152 Wabur avenue to the Benedictine Hospital.

Foch Better But Vision Rained.

Paris, Jan. 28. (AP).—Marshal Ferdinand Foch passed such a good night and his condition had so improved generally today that his physicians thought it unnecessary to issue a bulletin. All visits to him, however, still are prohibited.

New York Central Must Purchase U. & D. Railroad

And Five Other Short Connecting Lines in Order to Consolidate With Its Principal Subsidiary Organizations for Operation and Management.

A conditional permission was given the New York Central System by the Interstate Commerce Commission on Saturday to consolidate with its principal subsidiary organizations for operation and management. The condition imposed will require the New York Central to buy or offer to buy, on reasonable terms, the properties of six railroads which connect with its line. The Ulster & Delaware Railroad is included in the short lines which the New York Central must seek to buy. The final order approving the general consolidation was held up for six months to allow the negotiations with the short lines to be completed.

At the hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission the question of taking over the short lines was the most formidable to be settled upon. The New York Central was not enthusiastic over the operation of the small connecting lines but the commission ruled that six of the number of short lines represented at the hearings must be considered. Besides the Ulster & Delaware there were two other lines directed for consideration in New York state, namely, parts of the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad, the Troy section not being mentioned, and the Owaseo River Railway. The other two short lines were the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena in Michigan and the Chicago, Attica & Southern in Indiana and the Federal Valley Railroad in Ohio.

By the proposals which the commission approved the New York Central will lease for 99 years the Michigan Central and the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway (Big Four), both of which lines it now owns by stock control. The Big Four, in turn, will lease the Cincinnati Northern Railroad and the Evansville, Indianapolis & Terre Haute, which it now holds by ownership, while the Michigan Central will lease the Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw Railway, also an owned subsidiary.

The effect of the transaction will be to place the 11,000-mile trunk line system of the New York Central in a single unit for operation and management, though in several of the companies named small holdings of minority stock will be left in the hands of private owners.

The terms provided for the payment of guaranteed dividends on all of the minority stock holdings and for the purchase by the New York Central of such holdings at amounts to be determined by arbitration.

The consolidation was opposed by representatives of some of the minority stock holdings, but the commission ruled that the terms tendered them were fair and reasonable and that the unification of the railroad operations sought would be in the public interest.

11,000 Miles in Single Unit.

WATERPOWER CONFERENCE DEFERRED TO FEBRUARY 5

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28. (AP).—The waterpower conference of Governor Roosevelt and legislative leaders, originally set for late this week, has been moved to February 5 by the governor.

Engagements this week will prevent the governor meeting with the legislative leaders to discuss a policy applicable to a proposed hydro-electric development of the St. Lawrence river.

The governor, it was learned last week, proposes to confer on the matter with the majority leaders of the Senate and Assembly, John Knight and Russell G. Dunmore; the Assembly speaker, Joseph A. McGinnis; Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the Senate finance committee, and Elderly Hutchinson, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee. At the conference there also will be the minority leaders of both Houses, Senator Bernard Downing and Assemblyman Maurice Bloch.

Roosevelt Wants State Detectives

Suggests Organization of State Bureau to Function in Rural Communities Which Suffer From Lack of Skilled Investigators.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28. (AP).—New York state would have its own "Scotland Yard" bureau of experts in detection of crime under a proposal made by Governor Roosevelt to the state crime commission.

The suggestion, made by the governor as a member of the national crime commission, contemplates organization of a small, mobile group of experts in a state bureau to function chiefly in rural counties needing expert assistance in their crime problems.

This country, the governor feels, has not kept abreast with criminal methods, as has England, excepting the efficient detective bureaus in the leading cities.

The governor believes that "particular" do our rural communities suffer from the lack of skilled investigators when serious crimes are committed.

In his letter to State Senator Caleb H. Daines, made public last night, the governor sought the attitude of the state crime commission toward the idea.

Problems For New Bureau

Formation of the bureau, however, would not be without its "obvious problems," the governor wrote.

Whether the bureau's force should be given general police authority or sworn in as special deputies when called by the sheriffs, at whose disposal the experts would be placed, was one of the questions raised.

In addition to the amount of power allotted to the bureau, questions raised by the governor included:

Should the force be concentrated at Albany or divided into units in order that they might get more quickly to the scene of the crime? Should their use be confined to murders, robberies with violence, holdups and felonies of like nature, or should they include baffling cases of arson and other serious crimes not directly involving life?

Should they be placed under the department of correction, department of state police or made an independent bureau of the executive department.

To what extent should their services be available in case of cities and towns possessing a uniformed police force.

VARIEITY OF CASES BEFORE JUDGE SHUFELDT

Edward McDonough, arrested Saturday by Sergeant Simpson on a warrant sworn out by Frank Koupout of Linderman avenue extension, who charged McDonough with assault in the third degree, had his hearing adjourned to Tuesday morning and furnished bail in the sum of $50 for his appearance at that time.

Street Department Worked on Sunday

Superintendent Frank Mills of the board of public works had all of his snow removal equipment busy all day Sunday in the uptown and downtown business sections of the city removing the snow that had been piled up by the operation of the snow plows. Sleighs, trucks and snow loaders were used. Today the work of clearing up the central business section of the city was taken up. Owing to the fact that the city snow plows were gotten out early when the heavy fall of snow swept over Kingston on Friday, all of the streets have been kept open to traffic.

Democrats Plan To Fight Hoover

Senators Propose Legislation for Many Things at Extra Session, But House Will Probably Follow Hoover's Plan.

Washington, Jan. 28. (AP).—Herbert Hoover is going to bump into a fight with the Democrats on his proposal to limit the intended extra session of the new Congress this spring to the consideration of tariff and farm legislation.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, sounded the war cry today with a declaration against the president-elect's proposal, which he terms unconstitutional.

"There are many things of which legislation will be needed if the extra session is called," said Senator Robinson, "and certainly there is no constitutional method by which the Senate can be limited in the exercise of its legislative duties."

However, Republican leaders are looking confidently to the power of an overwhelming majority in the House to carry out the limitation scheme. It is conceded that if the House Republican leaders finally decide only to organize the necessary committees for consideration of the tariff and farm relief, no other legislation can be put through there. Republicans will have a majority of almost 100 in the House.

House Leaders Defy to Hoover.

The Senate can go ahead and pass all the bills it wants to in the extra session but if the House majority refuses to consider them they cannot become law. House leaders do not intend to consider anything but tariff and farm relief in deference to the wishes expressed by Mr. Hoover in his conference here this month.

The Hoover administration's scheme can be upset only by a coalition of Democrats with a healthy sized block of Republican votes in the House. House Democrats are gauging the prospects but their hope is faint.

Cold and Snow In Middle West

Chicago, Jan. 28. (AP).—The same chilling information that the middle west has been reading off and on, for the past month was offered again by the government weather bureau today.

"Cold Wave"

Snow was the harbinger, falling on the western and north-western boundaries of the district yesterday and moving eastward, whirling down upon Chicago at nightfall. Behind the snow came cold—around zero for the Chicago territory, the weatherman said—much colder than that in the north.

Ice that has covered most of the middle west since the Christmas holidays remained a serious hazard to traffic. Three persons were killed and six seriously injured in Chicago yesterday in falls.

In Nebraska the thermometer got down to 15 below zero in the north-west corner, but was on the warm side of the cipher in other parts of the state. Superior was the coldest spot in Wisconsin, with minus 20. Through the Dakotas and Minnesota sub zero readings were the rule.

Colesburg, Iowa, appealed to the state for relief, being virtually snow-bound. Colesburg has been without mail since last Thursday. The village creamery yesterday released its coal supply to families whose own bins had been depleted. With a temperature of eight below zero, the village had about enough coal to last a week.

Kiwanis-Farm Bureau Dinner

Commissioner Pyke to Speak—Dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel—Reservations Must Be Made by Thursday.

The Kingston Kiwanis Club has arranged to have Commissioner Pyke of the Department of Agriculture and Markets at Albany, come to Kingston on February 7, and has invited all Farm Bureau men to attend. The number who can be accommodated is limited by the size of the dining room. At the present time only a few tickets remain.

Dinner will be served at 6:15 o'clock at $1.50 per plate, reservations for which must be made by Thursday, January 31, so as to assure accommodations. Tickets can still be secured at the Farm Bureau office.

The speaking will follow the meal. Hon. Willard Davis, president of the Farm Bureau will represent that organization and L. C. Barnes, lecturer of the Ulster County Pamona Grange, will represent the Grange. A great time is anticipated by all. Those who want to attend and have not secured their tickets are urged to do so at once.

Hoover and Smith May Not Meet

Press Agent's Efforts on Behalf of Florida Resort Meet Refusal at Hoover Headquarters—Smith Has No Statement.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28. (AP).—President-elect Hoover said today he would be "most happy" to see former Governor Alfred E. Smith, who is spending part of his vacation at Coral Gables, only a short distance from Belle Isle, where Hoover is staying.

Hoover's statement, made in reply to a question from a newspaper correspondent, follows:

"By all means I should be glad if Governor Smith has the time to call. I should be most happy to see him."

Advised of Mr. Hoover's statement by telephone, the former New York governor said he had no statement to make.

"Will you see Mr. Hoover?" he was asked.

"I said there was no statement," the Democratic leader replied. He added that he was interested, but that he was in Florida for a vacation and objected to newspaper correspondents continually calling him on the telephone.

"I would be glad to see you men in a group at any time," he said.

An effort to bring the President-elect and Mr. Smith together through a third party had been undertaken today by Hamilton Wright, press agent for Miami, who called at Hoover headquarters. This request was flatly refused, advisers of Mr. Hoover taking the position that they would not become a party to what they termed a "publicity stunt."

Hoover Visits His Offices.

Hoover went to his executive offices on Belle Isle early today for the first time. He had as his first caller Horace A. Mann, Washington attorney, who directed the Republican campaign in the south last fall.

Explaining that his call was simply one of courtesy as he had not seen Hoover since the election, Mann in reply to questions took cognizance of published reports that he would be chief patronage dispenser for the south and that he also might be political secretary or adviser to the new president.

"There is no job that Mr. Hoover has that I would have and Mr. Hoover well knows that," Mann said. "I do not aspire to be dispenser of patronage for the south or any other place; that would be left to the organization."

"My interest is solely in building up a militant organization in the south from the beginning we were able to make during the last campaign. I will be as helpful in that work as I can be."

Denies Statement.

The statement issued by Chairman Britten of the house naval committee, that the president-elect was in favor of a navy second to none and that he had expressed a desire that the cruiser list be passed by congress with the time limit, drew a denial on both counts today from Hoover's office.

As to the cruiser bill, it was stated that the president-elect had made no statement because of his announced policy of refraining from interfering with pending legislation in any manner.

Tax Ingredients Of Home Brew

Indianapolis, Jan. 28. (AP).—A state tax on the ingredients of home brew is proposed in a bill prepared by Representative H. Curtis Bennett for introduction in the Indiana general assembly. The measure would provide for a sales tax on malt syrup and malt extract.

Bennett said today malt products are being shipped into Indiana by the carload and that approximately 50 companies are engaged in their manufacture. While these products have legitimate uses in baking, Bennett contends that a large percentage is used in the manufacture of home brew. He proposed a tax of five cents on each quart can of malt.

At present, Indiana has, in the Wright home brew law, what is considered by many as the most severe prohibition statutes of any state in the country.

Too Complicated

Mother was trying to teach little Sophia the meaning of fractions.

"Suppose," she asked, "I cut an apple into halves, how many pieces would I have?"

"That was easy for Sophia. "Two," she answered.

"Now, if I cut the apple into quarters how many pieces would I have?"

Sophia thought a minute and, carefully counting on her fingers, gave the correct answer.

"Very good," said mother. "That's what fractions are."

Sophia was not satisfied, however.
After a few moments she came back.
"If you cut an apple into tiny snips," she wanted to know, "how many pieces would there be?"

Mother thereupon decided to leave the lesson in fractions to teacher.

Kangaroo Superstitions

The Australian aborigines of remote tribes hold a number of superstitions connected with the kangaroo.
These strange animals are believed to give warning of danger.

If a black-fellow of these tribes going along saw an old-man kangaroo hopping toward him it meant that an enemy was near and it was time to have his spear in readiness to strike.

To dream that a number of "roos" were sitting around the camp was an omen of serious warning that danger beset the camp. In at least one tribe during their initiation period boys were not allowed to drink out of a waterhole unless through a hollowed "roo bone."

Don't believe everyone believes all that you believe they believe.

Couldn't Sleep or Eat, Lost Strength Because of Severe Stomach Distress

Local Man Relates How This Trouble Affected Entire Health;
No-Erb Was First Medicine To Help Him.

Dr. French's No-Erb, the great herbal medicine which was recently introduced in Kingston by the No-Erb man at McBride's Drug Store is growing daily in popularity because of its certain action on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Every day some person is telling how it corrects digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, rouses a lazy liver, relieves constipation, quiets the nerves or drives rheumatic aches and pains from the system in many cases after everything else had failed. For example here is the enthusiastic story of Mr. William Post, R.D.
No. 1, Kingston, N. Y., who is a well-known employe of the Cornell Steamboat Co.

"I'd get such terrible pains through my stomach after every meal that they almost doubled me up, this I know was caused by gas formations and fermentation of my food and I also suffered from bloating and this was pressed up against my heart so that at times it almost took my breath away. I was subject to staggering dizzy spells and at these times everything seemed to go black before my eyes. I slept poorly at night and awakened each morning feeling tired and worn out. I also had a very poor appetite and I was a chronic victim of constipation.

"I tried many of the different advertised remedies and plenty of other medicine that I heard about, but nothing ever helped me to any extent until I started using No-Erb.
That is only about one month ago, but in that time my stomach has improved so that I am no longer troubled with gas formations, indigestion or those terrible pains. The dizzy spells and bloating spots before my eyes have entirely disappeared.
Not only that, but this medicine has quieted my nerves, given me a good did appetite and I sleep soundly all night long. My bowels are more regular as a result of having used No-Erb and I am stronger and more energetic in every way. My advice to anyone who suffers from these troubles is to give No-Erb a chance to help them.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, is headquarters in Kingston for No-Erb. Go on the No-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

English Singers Here Today

When the English Singers of London sing here on Tuesday night at the high school auditorium, their program will be made up of musical selections from the 16th Century, which many believe to be the golden age of English music, as well as English literature.

The program will consist of madrigals, canzonets, ballads, and motets, and since these words may be unfamiliar to some who will find great pleasure in the work of this unique ensemble, which has last season alone sold out six concerts in New York city, the following definitions have been supplied by Cuthbert Kelly, spokesman for the singers: Madrigal: A composition for two or more voices unaccompanied to secular verse, often but not always, of a pastoral kind. All the voice parts are of equal interest and mainly designed from the same melodic material. At first the term was applied to the verse and later to the music "made on" the verse. The Madrigal form flourished in the 16th century in Flanders, Italy and England.

Canzonet: "A little short song or air." This is one of the many terms which the madrigal composers applied to their music. Originally a canzonet was designed on a smaller scale than a madrigal but in fact the style of composition is the same in both. Ballet: A composition for voices like the madrigal but with a much more regular and simple rhythm and with a Fa-la-la refrain. In its more primitive form it was a combination of singing and dancing but it was not danced by Elizabethan singers. It may be pointed out that it is an error to regard the Fa-la-la refrain as the distinguishing feature of the Madrigal. Motet: A composition for voices unaccompanied, set, as a rule to sacred words. Thomas Morley describes a motet as "properly a song made for the church either upon some hymn or Anthem or such like," but the term includes "all grave and sober musicks i. e. compositions of a specially serious and introspective kind."

Kiddies' Clothes Are Modernistic

Designs Used by Grown-Ups Copied in Costumes for the Youngsters.

Midwinter styles for children are full of innovations. Some of the features of grandmother's day—bertha, flairs and the needlework—discarded when extravagant dress for children came in, have returned and are varied in ingenious ways in models somewhat after the latest styles for grown-ups, says a fashion writer in the New York Times.

Along with the exhibitions of these frocks in the fashionable shops are many attractive outfits for babies. For them, in keeping with the fashions of the day, the dresses, petticoats and wrappers are all modernized. Their short clothes are a trifle longer, also, than those that were once the second stage in the wardrobe of the very young miss.

One of the surprises in fabrics is the return of old-fashioned dimity, in the latest designs checks and hair line. This, with fine cotton needlework, smoking and cross-stitching is taking the place of the lace and embroidery with which babies' things were overloaded a few years ago. Plain muslin, handkerchief linen, batiste and nain are all used, too, for these little frocks, and they are elaborated with fine hemstitching, "French" embroidery and edgings of real lace. Dresses designed for christening or some such ceremonious occasion are more ornate.

Fur on Babies' Clothes. Fur is used generously on babies' coats and caps for winter, and even on the carriage blankets. One of unique design in angora wool is put together so that it covers the child in its carriage, buttoning like an envelope, and is so arranged that long white angora fur protects the back and entirely covers the front, as though a laprobe.

Whole blankets are made of white or fluted fur lined with a pretty light silk, and coats, caps, mittens and muffs are of white rabbit. An amusing novelty is a large black angora cut made to be flat in a lifelike posture, in which to keep a baby's night gown on the crib or accessories at the foot of her carriage out of doors. Caps and wee bonnets are made of fuzzy angora wool, of cloth edged with swan's down, and some quaint little ones are shown of quilted silk and crepe, with a ribbon ruching or a band of marabou around the face. These match the quilted silk coats and carriage robes in pretty light shades, and are finished with a binding of satin ribbon, a border of lace, fur and marabou.

Winter fashions in models for young ladies from two to six suggest everything in comfort and service as well as prettiness. Four-piece woolly suits include trouser-leggings, a sweater, cap and mittens of downy angora in white, light green, blue, pink and tan. Each article has a border in contrasting color, such as white with pale green, pink or blue, or white with an ombre band. A suit in light tan is in Frocks of Linen, Belgian Lace; Pink Velvet, Satin Trimming.

Ished with a border of orange and white in checked pattern, another to white, with yellow in two shades along the border. To make these little snowbird outfits more attractive a stuffed woolly dog of the same material is added to each.

Two-Piece Suits Are Used.

For children of the same age are shown also two-piece suits, consisting of a plaited skirt attached to an undershirt and a pull-on sweater, made after the fashion of a suit for a grownup. There is great variety in these suits, which are tailored, with flat skirts and a general air of sophistication. A kilt of plain blue tasha in worn with a sweater of blue and two-striped jersey; a Scotch tartan plaid skirt with a plain blue jumper, and other charming color combinations. A blue jersey sweater is shown with a little gathered skirt of mauve jersey, lined with tan, scarlet or blue.

In quite a dashing ensemble a tiny jersey sweater is knitted in bold geometric design in red, white and blue—one of the fashionable color arrangements—and this is to be worn with a skirt of plain blue jersey. This suggestion of modernism is reflected in a number of smart little "sports" ensembles, which are very engaging and amusing because of their petite proportions.

Dressy frocks for little girls are made of different kinds of sheer, soft material, principally crepe, georgette, nylon and—for many quaint, simple models—old-time dimity. Fussy dresses are entirely out of fashion and trimming is used with discretion. Needlework is used now, as ever, in delicate patterns and fine workmanship. All-white is much in demand, clever ways being found to give variety to white dimity and dimity frocks by introducing color.

Passing from the infant class to the girls who are growing long of hair, the styles become somewhat more sophisticated. Because so much of the modern child's life is spent in the open greater attention is given to sports clothes, those of tweed, wool crepe, tasha and jersey—of which a great deal is used—being just right for skating, tobogganing and street wear on winter days.

Several models are considered particularly smart. One is the skirt, plaited, tiered or plain, worn with an overskirt, generally in a different color. Often the skirt is of plaid checked or striped goods, with plain jumper or blouse, and in some of the suits this arrangement is reversed. In several jersey suits a wider pattern is woven about the bottom, neck and wrists, and in some a motif is worn about the bottom, neck and wrists; in others a motif being woven or embroidered on the front.

One-Piece for Slender Girls.

One-piece dresses are very much in favor for slender young girls, particularly because they are softer of line and more flattering and because they may be worn with the warm tweed and fur toppers. Wool fabrics, which have been neglected in recent seasons, are again shown in models from the best houses. Many new designs in these frocks are shown with the irregular neckline, the bloused bodice and the skirt with the fullness assembled in front.

Frocks of velvet, crepe, taffeta and voile are most popular for general occasions, for in one of these a young girl is ready for almost any daytime affair. A model in which are introduced several of the new points in vogue for women's dress this season is made of pastel blue crepe de chine on which are printed small conventional flowers in rose, with a touch of leaf green here and there. The oblique neckline is accomplished by slashing the material across the yoke in front, and tying the strips into a bow at one side. Below this the blouse is gathered in the middle front and is strapped about with a narrow sash of the crepe.

The skirt, which is modish and almost mature, is composed of two tiers gathered only part way round, with the fullness clustered to one side of the front and back. This sweetly feminine little frock has an additional touch of daintiness in little strips of the crepe with which the sleeves are closed in bows at the back of the hand. The decorative scalloped edge is introduced in another model of this kind, making a line from the left shoulder to the right side of the blouse, back and front, and forming a yoke with parallel scallops for the skirt, which is a full-gathered blouse after the manner of one of the latest styles for women.

The revival of the bertha is shown in a smart little afternoon frock of beige crepe georgette. This item, borrowed from old-fashioned grown-up women, is modernized in its adaptation to a young girl's frock. It is cut circular to ripple in an "asymmetrical" composition, which is repeated in the yoke of the skirt. The bertha, attached to only one-half of the bodice, forms a shallow point at the neck and is fastened in front with three buttons at one side, the other side of the neck being left plain.

Bacon and Shakespeare

There are three main points upon which the supposition that Bacon was in reality the author of Shakespeare's works are based: First, there are a few passages in Shakespeare's works which are similar to passages in Bacon's; second, the existence of certain supposed ciphers in plays which have been interpreted as cryptic signatures of Bacon; third, a single sentence written in a letter to Bacon by Sir Tobie Matthews at some date subsequent to January, 1621.

True Wife a Servant

A true wife in her husband's house is his servant; it is in his heart that she is queen. Whatever of heat he can conceive, it is her part to be; whatever of highest he can hope, it is hers to promise; all that is dark in him she must purge late purity; all that is falling in him she must strengthen into truth; from her, through all the world's clamor, he must find his peace; in her, through all the world's warfare, he must find his peace.

Find Big Still In Putnam County

A raid was made last week by the Federal men from the Kingston office at Mahopac Lake, Putnam county, where a 500 gallon still was found being operated on the Samuel MacMillan farm for the manufacture of alcohol. Nicholas Furore and his wife, Angelina, and John Repertha were placed under arrest. Furore and his wife on a charge of violation of the prohibition law and Repertha on a charge of violation of the Sullivan law in regard to possession of firearms. The raid was made with the cooperation of State Troopers and the charge against Repertha was lodged by the Troopers who held the defendant in the county jail on that charge.

Furore was held in $2,000 bail and when he failed to provide the necessary bail he was taken to New York city by a U. S. marshal. The charge against Mrs. Furore was dismissed.

Furore is one of the men who was involved in a big still proposition at Rider's Mills, Columbia county, last fall when federal agents raided the place. He was one of the men who with James Orak, Joseph Gallati and James Gallardi were apprehended at the Rider's Mills place. The latter three men were again arrested a short time ago at West Ghent, Columbia county, when a still on the old Bartlett farm was raided by the agents from the local office. Orak, who is also known as Bruno, failed at that time to secure the $2,500 bail which was the sum of $5,000 and was released. Gallati, who is also known as Joseph Buccinna, was held in $2,500 bail and Gallardi was held in $1,000 bail.

All three of the men were indicted by the federal grand jury on December 3 in connection with the Rider's Mills still but failed to show up, and forfeited their bond posted for appearance in that case. When caught again at West Ghent and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connelly here bail in very substantial amounts were demanded by the agents in view of the fact that the men had failed to show up on the previous charge when wanted. It is expected a U. S. marshal will pick the men up on a charge of forfeiting bail in the former case.

Open Meeting of Club Federation

District Director Talks About Activities of State Federation—Albany Previous State President From Being Present.

The January open meeting of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held on Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the First Reformed Church, the county chairman, Mrs. Harry Walker, and an assisting committee being hostesses. A short business session was followed by an interesting program, including music and a talk on Federation activities from Mrs. Frederick W. Cameron of Albany, district director.

At the business session the report of the treasurer, Miss Edith Holmes, showed $204.92 in the general federation fund, $25 in the public health fund and $45.78 in the lecture fund. The report was accepted with thanks.

Dr. Day, chairman of the public health committee, reported on the recent Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale, $7,600 already deposited in the bank and some 2,000 letters not heard from even yet, after all sorts of persuasion had been resorted to by the committee to get at least an acknowledgment of the receipt of the letters. Being optimistic, the committee still hopes to receive some additional money for their work from these 2,000 outstanding letters.

Dr. Day called attention to the fact that the past seal sale was the twentieth such sale held in Ulster county. She told how twenty years ago last fall Mrs. C. N. Reed, having lead of the Christmas Seal sale in Denmark and the state of Delaware for the raising of funds for tuberculosis, talked with her about holding such a sale here that the work might be taken up in Ulster county. Investigating the matter, Mrs. Reed learned that in order to conduct such a sale it would be necessary to form a Red Cross Chapter in the county as it was the Red Cross of America that was sponsoring these sales. Twelve members were necessary for the founding of the Red Cross Chapter, and at the initial meeting many more than that number were present and the chapter was formed. The first Christmas seal sale was carried on in the home of Mrs. Reed, and it was felt that the results were marvelous for the sum of about $400 was realized from the sale. Today, twenty years later, the sum of $7,600 has been received and it is hoped that the net results will be in the neighborhood of $6,000, showing how educated the public has become in this badly needed health work.

In the absence of Miss Healy, chairman of the individual membership committee, Miss Holmes reported for Miss Healy, 62 individual members, of which 45 were paid-up members. One old member renewed her membership and one new member was received, Mrs. Ferguson of Lake Katrine.

In the report of the good government committee, Mrs. Reed called attention to two editorials in the January issue of The Ladies' Home Journal, as offering good advice and encouragement to those wishing better government.

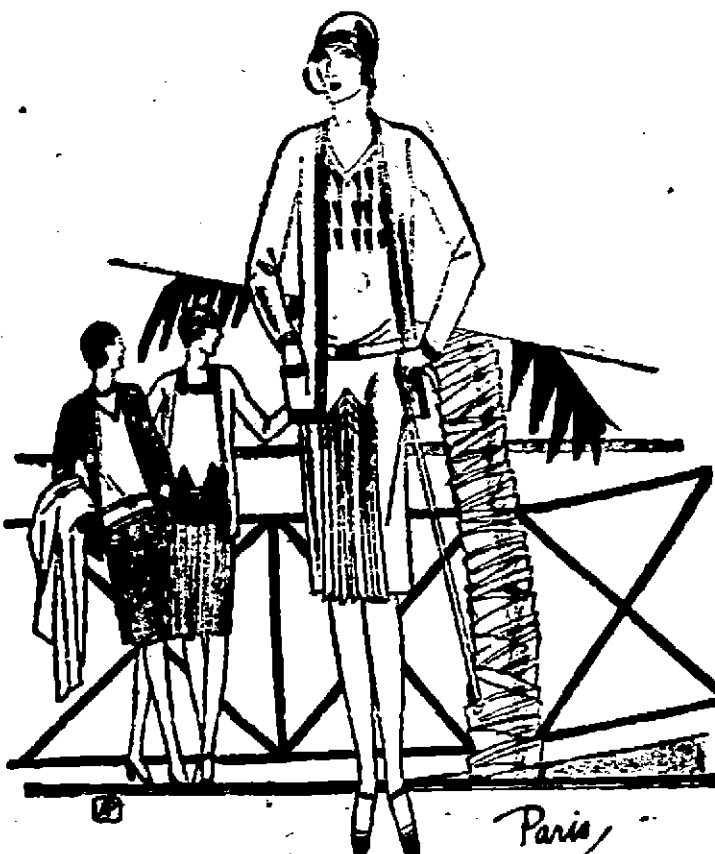

No Special Club Activities.

The club reports were but a resume of their study subjects, etc., there having been no special activities on their part. This brought the business session to a close, and the president then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Harry Walker, county chairman and hostess of the afternoon.

After cordially welcoming those present, Mrs. Walker stated that she deeply regretted having two very disappointing announcements to make. One was that late the evening before she had received a telegram from Mrs. Reeder, state president, stating that she was ill and her physician could not allow her to consider coming to Kingston, and extending her best wishes for the success of the meeting. The other was in the form of a letter from Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen, extending greetings and regretting greatly that on account of sickness she not only would not be able to be present at the meeting but would also have to forego the happily anticipated pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Cameron. Mrs. Walker did strike a happy note, however, when she said she felt sure that the edge of the disappointment of all present would be decidedly blunted by the fact that Mrs. Frederick W. Cameron of Albany, district director of the third district and already well known and loved by the Kingston Federation women, was present to address them, and also that Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks had kindly consented to give a group of songs.

The program opened with Mrs. Wicks' songs, the accompaniment being played by Mrs. William S. Ellidge. The songs were charming and delightfully sung by Mrs. Wicks who had chosen as her numbers, "Shepherd, Thy Demons Vary," by Brown; "Come, Child Beside Me," by Biederman; and "Less than the Cloud," by McGill. For an encore, Mrs. Wicks sang one of the modern songs, "The Grocer Boy."

Mrs. Walker then introduced Mrs. Cameron who was given a very cordial welcome and who expressed her pleasure in being able to speak right after such lovely music. Mrs. Cameron's talk was of particular interest to federation women and it was unfortunate that owing to sickness more of the club women of the city could not have heard her. She, too, expressed profound regret that Mrs. Reeder could not be present, so that the Kingston women might know their new state president and that she might know them. Mrs. Cameron felt that with each new president the state federation took a new lease of life, for each president stressed some phase of the work differently from each other president. Mrs. Cameron told of the many departments in the state federation, covering practically all phases of women's activities, and explained the women present of the fact that their clubs could at any

LOUNGING ROBES GO CHINESE IN MANDARINE AND COOLIE INSPIRATIONS

New York—Among the curious changes time has brought about is that a woman in quest of a negligee is often asked by the saleswoman whether she wants a robe or pajamas. Judging from the number of pajama ensembles displayed in smart shops and the zeal of the salesforce in suggesting them, they are the last word for lounging.

Southern beaches seem also to have burst into bloom with all manner of exotic, bifurcated garments from boyish shorts to highly feminized pajamas of every material under high heaven from velvet to gingham.

Women, it has been proved, entertain more than ever at home, which naturally makes for interest in the robe intime or hostess robe. For 6334. An attractive frock with surprise closing and distinctive lines. A curved insert at the right hip, holds a flare flange which is creased in soft and effective folds, and forms a smart dip at the hem. The sleeve is lengthened with an employment, which together with the revers facing of the right front is of contrasting material. The pointed neck opening boasts of a tiny vestee. Satin crepe was used in this instance. One could have printed velvet or georgette with facings of crepe. Silk crepe with contrasting crepe for trimming, is also suggested.

The Pattern for this slenderizing model is cut in 8 sizes: 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52 inches bust measure. It will require 4 1/2 yards of 29 inch material for a 48 inch size. For the revers facing and facings on the sleeve extension 1/2 yard 11 inches wide is required. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 1 1/2 yards.

midwinter, the more regal types are of richly lined velvet sometimes paneled in silver lace or rimmed with fur. Scarf sleeves or fitted ones with floating medialateral draperies add grace to the more formal of these robes. Conservative women find the pajama or ensemble lacking in dignity yet, what could be more dignified than a Chinese mandarin, or what more lordly than his robe!

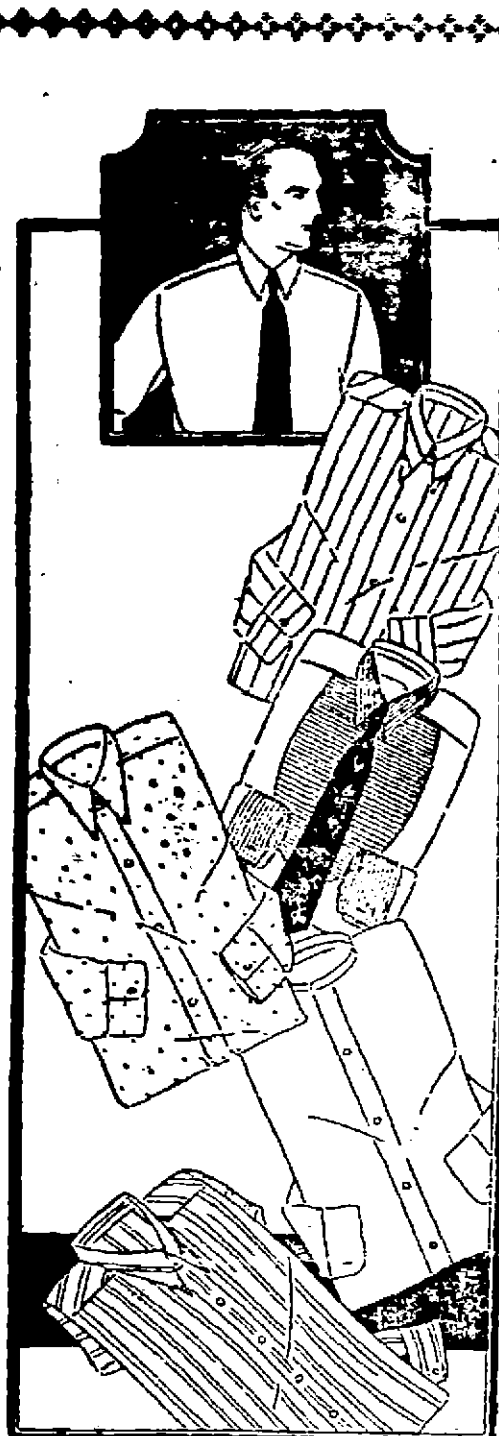

The composite idea remains the usual choice for pajamas, the trousers being sometimes cuffed with the material used for the upper section. That they are widened at the hem is rather a foregone conclusion, the flare remaining the correct line.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Bursledon, England—This sleepy little Hampshire village boasts the distinction of being the "place where nobody is young". The aggregate age of the inhabitants, in proportion to population, is the highest in Britain. Twenty-seven venerable residents have a total age of 2,115 years, or an average of 78.

Rignan, France—This village of 242 inhabitants is known as the "place where nobody marries". Wedding bells have not been heard here for four years. The population, composed almost entirely of spinners and weavers, is rapidly dying out.

Feine, Germany—Conservative citizens are up in arms over the action of a new communist magistrate who appeared for his induction wearing a red necktie and red gloves. They have complained to the minister of the interior.

Geneva—One can go above Mont Blanc now and keep warm. A French plane for Alpine sightseeing has a heated cabin.

London—An ancient corn mill, operated ages ago by Roman slaves, has been unearthed by a construction gang in the heart of London's financial area.

New York—General Motors will distribute this week $13,968,500 in cash and stock to 12,032 of its employees. Workers who during 1923 each paid $300 to the corporation's savings and investment fund will receive $2,415 in cash and stock.

Miami, Fla.—Rosalie Belle, Seminole maiden, is back from a six months' exile in the Everglades. Imposed because she imitated the costumes of her white sisters. Medicine men caught her wearing a one-piece bathing suit.

New York—"Piece work" pay for marriage license clerks is responsible for much of the evasion of marriage laws, the Russell Sage Foundation finds. It declared that when a license bureau official's compensation depends on the number of licenses he issues, he sometimes does not bother to check applicants' statements.

Western Grove, Ark.—North Arkansas is now carving its roadway in the highways about through ledges of fine marble and less it aside like dirt or shale. There is an illustration between this place and Valley Springs on Federal Highway No. 63, which is now under construction. Any one of the larger pieces would cost $150 worked into a monument.

WOMAN GAVE UP LOVE FOR BROTHER, NOW SUES HIM

Claims Oral Promise to Reconcile Her for Sacrifice Has Been Broken.

New York.—Charging that she sacrificed all opportunities for married life and happiness in order to bring up her younger brother after the death of their parents, Miss Sarah Morgan is now suing her brother to compel him to carry out an alleged oral promise to pay her $25,000 and $25 a week for the balance of her life.

The defendant is William T. Morgan. It was agreed that he would make his financial provision for her, according to the sister, because she had devoted her life to him.

Miss Morgan appeared before Judge Fawcett in Brooklyn Supreme court to ask that her brother's answer to the complaint be stricken out. William had contended that the "contract" was without consideration. The court decided his answer was not frivolous and declined the request, leaving the matter of consideration to the jury.

Miss Morgan, in her papers, says her brother paid her $10,000 on account and $25 a week for more than a year. Therefore, she maintains, he owes her a lump sum of $17,000 and $450 on the weekly account.

The parents of the Morgans died 35 years ago when Sarah was twenty and William was ten. It is stated in the complaint. Miss Morgan says she went to work to support her brother and that when he was able to earn money she allowed him to keep it.

Morgan invested his money wisely in real estate and prospered, the affidavit continues, and in 1906, in return for what Sarah had done for him, agreed to give his sister half of all the property he possessed then or should obtain in the future.

At the time, she avers, he had $40,000 in cash and 10 parcels of realty in Brooklyn. There was a tacit understanding between them also that he should not marry, she continues, but in 1925 he broke this and did marry.

Miss Morgan then demanded that he keep his oral promise, she avers, and when he refused she sued. He compromised by agreeing to give her $25,000 and $25 weekly for life, she said, paying $10,000 down and for a time paying her the weekly sums.

Morgan, in his answer, asserts that what provision he made for his sister was "merely a generous gesture."

Dog Dives Under Ice to Rescue Children

Berlin.—Two children who broke through the ice while skating on the Danube near Donaustauf were rescued from certain drowning by a hunting dog.

Hearing the cries of the skaters, a hunter rushed to the scene and commanded the animal to plunge into the stream. Only after the fifth attempt was he able to find one of the children and after dragging him ashore started the search anew.

This time the dog was obliged to dive under the ice, where the second youth had drifted, and only after an exhausting struggle could the animal attain the open water. Resuscitation was necessary to save the lives of the children and their rescuer after reaching the shore.

Water Increases Danger in Some Types of Fire

New York.—A warning from the Underwriters' Laboratories tells how water is becoming less general as a fire extinguisher as applied science develops synthetic utilities.

For wood, paper, textile rubbish and all ordinary combustible materials, the warning says that water still holds its quenching powers. But when oil, greases and gasoline are concerned, water adds to the peril by spreading the flames, and the foam or heavy gas type of extinguisher is needed.

For fires in electrical equipment water is still more dangerous, involving risk of causing electric shock, and carbon types of extinguishers are recommended.

It May Upset Digestion And Thus Result Further Lower The Body-Resistance.

According to health authorities, a peculiarity of influenza is that it toxins upset the digestive system, especially in the case of children. Too much "dosing" still further disturbs the digestion, and should be avoided except on advice of a physician.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion, nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe.

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, or pneumonia. Head even the slightest cold as a danger-signal and treat it promptly—without "dosing." Just rub Vicks on throat and chest at bedtime.

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "is my estimation of more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable.

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady, serene, radiant woman you once were. Take a teaspoonful of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have more back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Club Women Dine At Stuyvesant

At six o'clock Saturday evening a dinner was given at the Stuyvesant Hotel in honor of Mrs. Frederick W. Cameron, district director of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

As there were several guests present from Saratoga, the party was quite a little larger, and much more delightful than it otherwise could have been, than originally planned, and the dinner was held in a screened off section of the main dining room, covers being laid for thirty-nine people.

The table was prettily decorated with pink carnations and baskets of pink cyclamens and a delicious menu was well served. There were no guests at the close of the dinner, but Mrs. Cameron asked, through Mrs. Walker, that the presidents of the various clubs give her a little sketch of their respective club work in order that she might know both the presidents and what their clubs were doing. Mrs. Pelen spoke first for the Federation itself and was followed by Mrs. Lawton, president of the Monday Club, the oldest women's club in the city. Mrs. Myers of Saratoga, president of the Saratoga Monday Club, child of the Kingston Monday Club, was the next speaker and successful club. Mrs. Monroe told of the Copley Club, Conklin, acting president of the Lowell Club, about that of Mrs. Graham represented Sorosis of which she is president; and as Mrs. Ellings, president of The Twentieth Century Club was not then present, Mrs. Walker gave account of her club. Each speaker told of civic and philanthropic as well as general educational work carried on through the Federation, a plan which met throughout the state, but which met with the hearty approval and interest of Mrs. Cameron. Mrs. Reed, secretary of the Kingston Federation, being asked to tell of past as well as present activities of the local body, told of early tree spraying carried on in the city, of a movement to help to keep the city clean by means of refuse cans about the streets, of the splendid work carried on for some two years at the Federation House in the lower part of the city, where young folks and old folks of the neighborhood congregated and were entertained and instructed and generally helped, of the founding of the Kingston Y. W. C. A., one of the biggest, most important and most forward-looking places of work ever undertaken by the Federation, educational work through lectures and finally of the work of the good government committee which is interested in good government rather than politics in the city.

After patiently listening to all this, Mrs. Cameron told those about her that she thought they scarcely realized how far they had gone on the broad road of service to their community and urged all of the women to keep up their active interest in the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Walker for so delightful an afternoon meeting and dinner.

SPENCER SCHOOL STUDENTS IN POSITIONS

Several permanent business positions have been secured by young people trained at Spencer's Business School, 237-239 Fair street. Below is a partial list of those recently located through the free placement service of the school:

Clarence Green, a graduate of the commercial department, has obtained a permanent position as bookkeeper and general office assistant with Doc Smith's Garage, Clinton avenue.

Miss Esther Kohan, a recent graduate of the shorthand department, has secured a position as stenographer and typist with Newton W. Fessenden, lawyer, Fair street.

J. B. Murdoch, Jr., an experienced graduate of the commercial department, has obtained a permanent position as clerical assistant in the New York Central Railroad Company, Grand Central Terminal, New York city.

George Taylor, a graduate of the business department, has obtained a desirable situation as bookkeeper and clerical assistant with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, 611 Broadway.

Miss Marjorie Herrick, a graduate of the shorthand department, has obtained a position as stenographer and general office assistant with the Central Gas & Electric Corporation, 611 Broadway.

The typewriting department at Spencer's Business School has recently been augmented by installing several new standard typewriters. Among the number is a late model Remington noiseless typewriter. Many business men who require absolute quietness in their offices are now purchasing this model of typewriter and they find that it eliminates considerably noise and confusion. With its large, equipment of standard typewriters, Spencer's School expects to graduate many speedy typists and stenographers during the next few months. Business men everywhere require the services of rapid, efficient stenographers and speedy typists. The aim of the school has always been to equip its graduates for the highest grade bookkeeping, stenographic, secretarial and civil service positions. Registration for mid-winter term may be made on any school day next week.

TOO MUCH CREAM

(By J. J. WALKER)

LYDIA LANE pushed back her loosened gray hair as the back door opened and her best neighbor, Mrs. Knapp, entered, drawing a go-cart behind her.

"I've got to go downtown and I wonder if I can't leave Baby Ruth here with you for a little while. I'll be right back," the young woman said.

"Why-yes," But the slight hesitancy in Lydia's voice would have warned Mrs. Knapp that she was hesitating if she had not been so eager to get her child cared for in order that she might have greater freedom. She gave a hasty look to Baby Ruth's blanket, snatched off her bonnet, kissed her, smiled at Lydia and was gone.

Lydia Lane was an old maid who lived alone. Naturally she knew nothing about infants except the little she had culled from taking care of her neighbors' children. She was well acquainted with Baby Ruth for she had taken care of her many times and ordinarily she did not object to such a task. But today Lydia was beset by many difficulties. She had promised to bake a cake for the church supper, she had promised to read to old Mrs. Emory for an hour, she had promised to take some jelly to Anna Holt and she had promised to hem some napkins for Della Conklin who hated to sew. All these promises must be fulfilled somehow, during the afternoon and it was three o'clock and she had not even begun to make her cake. This was because she had had company to lunch. Her brother's wife had one of her customary headaches and had sent the three boys over to Aunt Lydia's to get the noonday meal. Added to all this Lydia was feeling a bit tired for she had been up late the night before helping her niece, Betty, finish a dress which she wanted to take away with her when she left on the morning train for a visit with a school friend.

No sooner had Mrs. Knapp departed than Baby Ruth decided she wanted to get out of the go-cart. This meant trouble, for Baby Ruth was "into" everything "quicker than a wink," according to Lydia's previous knowledge of her. She upset the coal scuttle and investigated the contents of a cupboard before Lydia could interfere. When reproved she howled rebelliously. It was while she was howling the loudest that the door-bell rang.

Lydia hurried to answer it and found a smiling-faced little boy who smiled up at her with big blue eyes.

"Here's a note from mother!" he said in a loud, sweet voice and he held it out to Lydia—a folded paper.

"She wants an answer right back," he added.

Lydia, distracted by strange sounds from the kitchen, opened the note and read: "Dear Lydia—I want you to come to dinner tonight and meet an old friend of yours—Alice Burdette."

"Just wait an instant, Tommy," Lydia fled to the kitchen and found Baby Ruth trying to climb on the table. She snatched up the child and hurried back to the door.

"I'm sorry, Tommy, but I'm afraid—you'd better tell your mother I can't come," she said breathlessly.

"There's going to be ice cream," Tommy told her confidentially.

Lydia tried to get a small clatching hand out of her streaming hair; she smiled wanly.

"I know, I am sorry. Tell your mother I am and—thank her for asking me."

Tommy ran away and Lydia returned to her problems. In the kitchen she set Baby Ruth down on the floor, gave her an eggbeater to play with and again glanced at the note. This time she read something into the words that had escaped her before.

An old friend! Why, that was Hosen Kantor, of course. She had heard about his being at the Burdette's for a brief visit. Once long ago before Hosen went West she had "gone with him some"—that was the village way of saying that she had had a chance to marry Hosen Kantor. But her father was not in good health and needed her and she had felt it her duty to stay at home. So she had lost all track of Hosen for years. Now her father was gone and she was alone and Hosen was back once more. Well, it didn't matter. She was an old woman now, or at least felt like one, and maybe it was better that Hosen should not see her with her gray hair and faded cheeks; better that he should remember her as the pretty girl he had once known. Her lips quivered and tears filled her eyes; for love is love no matter how long it goes un-nourished. But at that moment Baby Ruth broke the eggbeater.

Lydia, bending over with a fork and at the same time trying to keep her charge from climbing into the sink, thought dazedly of the years to come, which, like the past ones, would be full of little duties performed like those of today. She was getting tired. Really, she must not promise to do so much, yet how could she refuse when people asked her to do things? The milk of human kindness had been her father's favorite theme for a sermon. "More of the milk of human kindness," Well, she tried to be kind, but sometimes—sometimes she wished that somebody would be a little kind to her. It was on account of Hosen Kantor that she felt this way, of course. Ordinarily she was thoughtful of herself at all, but of others—

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscin that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and breaks the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, croscin is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscin, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation, while the croscin goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the cause of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 28 (AP).—The stock market today was on a heavy accumulation of work and buying orders at the opening today, but promptly went into a slow dive when the buying movement spent itself in the late forenoon. Early gains of 1 to 10 points in a wide assortment of stocks, rails and specialties generally were replaced with losses of one to eight points.

The bears took advantage of widespread nervousness over the possibility of tightening call money rates as the month end approached, and the weak technical position of the market resulting from the rapid upturn in several sections of the list late last week, to stage a rather effective rally. Early buying was changed to trading and the market sharply when the market began to slip.

Call money again renewed at six per cent despite the approach of February 1, when about $375,000,000 will be required to meet interest and dividend requirements. Bankers do not look for such tight money as over the year-end, as the banks have reduced their borrowing at the Reserve Bank and are in a position to support the market. Ten per cent money, however, is regarded as a possibility before the end of the week.

The day's news was scant, save for several more 1928 railroad income reports, the majority of which were favorable as regards net. New Haven earned $8 per share, against $5.49 in 1927. American Smelting and Refining Company was reported to have acquired control of copper properties in South Africa.

New York Central mounted more than 5 points but lost about half its gain. It dropped 10 and promptly fell back. International Telephone moved up more than 7 points and also reacted.

Some of the tobacco stocks were conspicuously strong. This group is understood to have been held back of late by selling for the Duke, Ryan and Whitney estates. American Tobacco jumped 7 points, and Liggett and Myers 3 points. International Harvester gained 5 points, while Case Threshing dropped 8.

Indian Refining advanced more than 4 points to a new top on reports that Shell Union and Texas were bidding for its cracking process. Other oils sagged.

EX-KAISER AGAIN REASSUMES ROLE OF A ROYAL EXILE

Doorn, Holland, Jan. 28 (AP).—After a day of memories of imperial glory Wilhelm Hohenzollern today resumed the role of a royal exile.

On his seventieth birthday yesterday the former kaiser stood resplendent in the uniform of a field marshal of the First Royal Guards and on his breast were the highest decorations within the gift of Imperial Germany and many other nations. Male participants in the celebration, garbed in ranks and wearing spiked helmets, saluted Wilhelm as "His Majesty, the Kaiser and King."

Princess Helene, whom the kaiser married in exile, was not present to share her husband's triumph or to be addressed as "Empress." The official explanation was that she was ill with what at first seemed to be a grippe. There was a rumor current, however, that she was only diplomatically ill, since the greater part of the Hohenzollerns on refusal to recognize her as "Her Imperial Majesty," conceding her merely the title of the kaiser's spouse.

St. Paul, Martin Luther, and Wilhelm II were linked together by Dr. Heinrich Vogel, court chaplain, in preaching the birthday sermon on a text chosen by the former kaiser.

Britain Waiting For Dominion

London, Jan. 28 (AP).—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons today that the British government proposes to deposit its ratification of the Kellogg pact as soon as the dominion governments are in a position to do likewise.

Sir Austen said specific ratification by Parliament was unnecessary since opinion in both houses from the time has been so strongly in favor of the pact.

Commander Joseph M. Kewenow, Laborite member from Hull, asked if Sir Austen were aware that there were certain criticisms levelled at him about the reservations attached to the pact.

"There are no British reservations neither are there American reservations," the foreign secretary replied.

FAMOUS SPANISH DISHES

THE following is fricasseed chicken the way the Spanish mothers prepare it:

Fricasse de Pollos.
Clean the chicken, cut up for frying and fry until brown in lard, adding two onions and two cloves of garlic. When the chicken is done add one cupful of olives, a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and one-half dozen stuffed olives. Mix and add one cupful of tomato juice, two tablespoonfuls of fine bread crumbs, a little sage with salt and pepper to taste. Set aside for ten minutes to keep hot.

Cocktail Sauce.
Take one teaspoonful of horseradish, one teaspoonful each of tarragon vinegar and lemon juice, four drops of tabasco sauce, and a little salt. Mix thoroughly and add to oysters and set away to chill.

Chili sauce, oyster liquor or grapefruit juice may be used as seasoning.

Chili Con Carne.
Remove the seeds from pods of two dried chili peppers. Soak pods in warm water until soft, then scrape the pulp from the skins into the water and discard the skins. Cut two pounds of round steak into small pieces, cook in hot butter until browned. Add three or four tablespoonfuls of flour and mix with a clove of garlic which has been gashed in two places. Add the chili and water, of which there should be a pint. Simmer until the meat is tender—about two hours; add salt to season.

Old Virginia Soup.
Take one quart of oysters, save the liquor, strain and add two blades of mace, one-half teaspoonful of finely chopped celery, one teaspoonful of salt and one pod of red pepper. Scald the oysters and add two tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed smooth with flour and one pint each of milk and cream. Let this come to a boil, then add the oysters; remove at once. Overcooking toughens and shrivels oysters. Serve from the tureen with squares of toasted bread. Pour the soup over the bread.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE EARTH'S PLACE

IN THE Nineteenth century men of science caused a great commotion by discussing "man's place in nature." The problem of the present is a different one, "the earth's place in the universe."

Dr. Harlow Shapley, a Harvard astronomer, who used to be at the Mount Wilson observatory in California, as a result of some mathematical calculations and by a process of "triangulation" announces that he has come to the conclusion that the universe of which we form a part is a thousand times greater than it was supposed to be.

He believes in a super-Milky Way, which has an extent of 300,000 "light years" from end to end.

A "light year," or the distance a ray of light will travel in 365 days is 6,000,000,000,000 miles.

But it only takes eight minutes for light to reach the earth from the sun, a distance of 88,000,000 miles.

It follows, therefore, that the bit of space occupied by the sun, and the earth circling the sun, is quite a modest corner of the universe of which we are a part.

To the aviator a big city with its tall buildings fades away into something like a map.

To the astronomer the earth itself is reduced to the dimensions of a little ball occupying a corner of the great spaces which we cannot even imagine.

Doctor Shapley not only admitted that all this was very humbling to mankind. He pointed out that it was a good thing for humanity to realize its own unimportance as compared with the universe.

In the Dark Ages the earth was regarded as the center of things. As man was the ruler of this globe it followed that he was the most important created thing in sight anywhere.

But now that he and his globe have been relegated to the outskirts of the system, or systems, a great part of which lies outside the range of his vision, or even imagination, a new aspect is put upon him and his surroundings.

But the further we penetrate into space the greater becomes the mystery and the majesty of the great procession of the constellations.

It is interesting to think of what the poet Milton would have made of his account of the heavens in "Paradise Lost" if he had some knowledge of this new hypothesis.

Early "League of Nations"

While suggestions of a movement toward peace are to be found in classical literature and in writings of the early churchmen, the first effort toward world peace was initiated by the king of Bohemia in 1462. He advanced a plan for a federation of Christian nations, having an international parliament to discuss matters of common interest and a tribunal, backed by international military forces, to hear and decide all disputes between nations.

Squirrels Nest in Trees

All our tree squirrels make nests of twigs and leaves among the branches of trees, says Nature Magazine. The gray squirrel usually has its young in a hollow tree, but birds a summer nest of twigs, cut with the leaves on, on a tree branch. These are also often occupied in the winter.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—southern, western and southwestern fresh green vegetables were in generous supply on the New York city wholesale sections today. Trading as a whole was fair. Prices tended downward, particularly on string beans, green peas, chichory, peppers, bunched beets and carrots. Most other lines of produce showed no important changes.

The market on old and new crop cabbage was rather dull and values averaged a shade lower, especially on unattractive stock. Western New York white Danish in bulk peddled out on the basis of $47-$55 per ton. New crop Wakefield cabbage from Florida, packed in 1½ bushel hampers, sold at $1-$1.75, mainly $1.25-$1.50.

Receipts of cut carrots from western New York were more liberal. Trading was less active and the market was barely steady. Several carloads of good quality, medium-sized muckland carrots changed hands at $2.10 per 100 pounds. New crop bunched carrots were plentiful. Prices declined in a weak market.

States of about 60 bunches from California packed out at $2-$4 and from Texas at $2-$7.25.

Chandlers Win At Schenectady

Locals Roll Up Big Lead in First Half and Are Safely in From Throughout the Balance of the Struggle.

The Chandlers beat Schenectady 22 to 6 at Schenectady, Saturday night. The locals rolled up a big lead in the first half having their opponents 22 to 6. In the second half the Chandlers slackened their pace and the Schenectady team gradually gained on the local team's lead. However, the up-state quintet never seriously threatened to overtake the Chandlers.

The Chandlers' floor work in the first half baffled Schenectady. The locals just walked through their defense although Schenectady tried, but tried in vain to stop them. The Chandler team passed the ball with great accuracy and they scored almost at will. Very little dribbling was done by the local team. On the other hand Schenectady dribbled the ball incessantly. Trying to get through the Chandler's defense was just like trying to get through a stone wall. Not once did a Schenectady man get the ball under his own basket to take a shot. All attempts to score by the up state team was made from the safety of the floor, especially in the first half. Fox and Krum of the local team made several shots in the first half from around the district of the foul circle.

The second half saw the Chandlers break up their skillful floor work by making long passes. This featured their work on the court in the closing session. For some reason or other in the second half the Chandler men didn't get the rebounds of the Schenectady team's backboard like they did in the opening period. This enabled their opponents to gather enough marks to make things look interesting for a while.

Chandlers Score Handily.
Fox began by making a shot from scrimmage as Bouck also scored shortly after. The tally was now 2 all. Later this was broken by Fox who again scored a two pointer. Krum also made a shot and the score was in the local's favor, 6-0. Fox and Krum found the hoop for a tally. It seemed as though these two men were trying to see who could make the most points. So far all their shots had been made from around the region of the foul line. McManus sunk one from the side of the court as Kingston called time out. The score was in their favor 10 to 4. As the game continued Fox was fouled on an attempt to cut into the basket. After Fox made his free try good the whistle blew which ended the quarter. The score was Kingston, 11; Schenectady, 4. Schenectady made some substitutions. Cory was sent in for McManus and Gray for Gregory. The Chandlers made a change when Merritt took Niles' place and McLane, a new man on the Chandler quintet, took Hoffman's position. The second quarter was all in favor of the Chandlers. Gray was the only man that scored for Schenectady in the second period. Krum found the hoop twice from scrimmage, Merritt once, and Fox wasn't missing any shots for he sunk three dunks. The half ended with the Chandlers having a big lead, 22 to 6.

In the second half the Schenectady team scored more frequently. To start the third quarter the Schenectady men made three foul shots. Dewitt sunk two and Bouck one. Merritt found the hoop from the side of the court and his score was matched up with Bouck's two pointer. Niles made a field goal while Poucher and Dewitt tallied. The third quarter ended with the score Kingston, 26; Schenectady, 14.

In the last quarter Schenectady outscored the Chandlers by four points, but the Chandlers' safe lead was too much for their opponents to overcome. Bouck made a foul. McLane made a free try good. Hoffman and Krum caged one from scrimmage and after this the Chandlers only scored once. Dewitt made another foul which was followed by two scores from the center of the floor by McManus. Gregory made a shot good from the fifteen-foot penalty line. Arnold scored a two pointer and McLane ended things up by caging a shot from the side of the court. Kingston called its last time out and the score stood 33 to 25. There were two minutes left and this was devoted to taking the ball up and down the court by both teams. No one scored.

Society Man Managing Fighter

Anthony J. Draxel Eddle, Jr., recently bought a share in the managerial rights to Rene de Vos, Belgian featherweight, and didn't see him in action until he visited him in the St. Nicholas gym, New York. Photograph shows a scene that will be re-enacted during the several coming fights—Tony acting as de Vos' second between rounds.

Roettger's Leg Mends and Is Ready to Play

Wallie Roettger, brilliant outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals during the first half of last season, who broke his right leg in a game with the Cubs on July 4, has mended completely and is ready for the call to Avon park, Fla., the Red Birds' training camp.

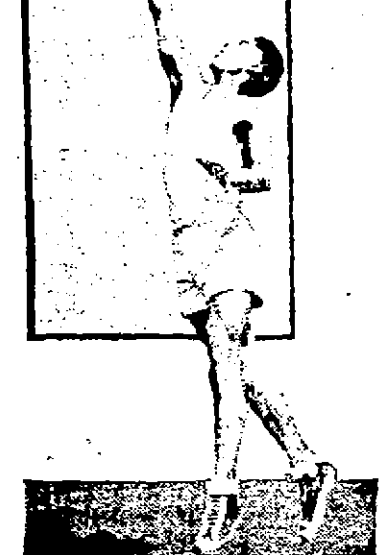

The state of Wallie's health is of more than passing interest throughout Illinois, partly because he is the basketball coach at Illinois Wesleyan, where his charges have won the Illinois conference championship for three years and have won 72 out of 81 games during his regime.

Roettger was a basketball and baseball star at Illinois, after which he did a stretch at the Cardinal farms in Syracuse and Houston.

He was pounding the ball at better than a 250 clip and was hailed as the third best thrower in the major leagues when he was laid low in a slide into third in the first game of a holiday double header.

Those who saw him lifted from the ground after the accident, with his toes twisted around to where his heel should have been, voiced the opinion he would never make the big show again. But now there is not a suggestion of a limp when he walks.

Champion Dribbler of Basketball Players

Robertson Is Elected Pilot of Yale Soccer

Reuben B. Robertson, Jr. of Asheville, N. C., a junior in the Scientific school, has been chosen captain of Yale's 1929 soccer team by vote of this season's 15 letter men. He starred throughout the past season, in which the Yale team did not lose a game. At the same time it was announced that Edwin N. Dodge, 30, of Minneapolis, would be the manager next season, and that George A. Vogel, 31, of Monasquan, N. J., had won the managerial competition and would therefore be assistant manager and manager the following season.

Title Bout At Newburgh

Joe Mulligan of Newburgh, classed as one of the most promising contenders for the National Guard featherweight championship title, will meet Benny Nabors, the champ, in the Newburgh armory, Friday night, February 1, in a 16-round tilt for the featherweight honor.

This scrap is expected to be one of the hottest contests ever staged in the Newburgh armory. Mulligan is a real fighter, who wins most of his battles by rushing his man and handing out a fusillade of socks that begin to have a telltale effect in the early stanzas. Benny Nabors, who now holds the featherweight honors, anticipates a tough time with Mulligan, but has no fear of losing his crown.

Other bouts on the Newburgh card are as follows: Mickey McVeigh, Newburgh, vs. Frankie Lopera of Mt. Vernon, six rounds; Joe Haley of Newburgh vs. Jack DeSonne, Mitchell Field, L. I., six rounds; Irving Peck, Newburgh, vs. Chico Gonzalez, New York city, six rounds; Ray Halversen, Newburgh, vs. Roy Van Buren, Kingston, six rounds; Scotty Findley, Newburgh, vs. Larry Rogers, New York city, four rounds.

TRINITY DEFEATED ALBANY AVENUE 40-7

At the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night only one Senior Sunday School League game was played. Trinity defeated Albany Avenue 40 to 7. The second game of the night between Port Ewen and the Comforter was forfeited by Port Ewen.

The Trinity team had an easy time defeating Albany Avenue. Throughout the first half, the winners scored rapidly and at half time they had their opponents 24 to 5. In the second half Albany Avenue only found the hoop once from scrimmage, while the Trinity team scored 16 points. The final score was Trinity, 40, Albany Avenue, 5.

PEDESTRIAN HAS RIGHT-OF-WAY

Motorists Are Warned to Exercise Care as Result of Court Decision.

A decision has just been handed down by the United States District Court of Appeals, upholding a pedestrian's right-of-way at a crossing despite traffic signal shifts, according to the legal department of the American Motorists' Association.

Pedestrians' Rights.
"In effect the court holds that pedestrians have the right-of-way not only at uncontrolled crossings but also when they have entered an intersection on a green light and further holds that the pedestrian has the right-of-way until he reaches the opposite curb, without regard to the change of lights during his passage of the crossing."

The decision is regarded by the association's legal department as just and is being called to the attention of the motoring public in order that the motorist may have full knowledge of his legal responsibility.

"When a pedestrian steps from a curb to cross the street, having a green signal with him, he does so by way of invitation and he cannot be charged with contributory neglect if the signal switches when he is in the street. Caught in this position, the obligation rests upon the motorists not only to observe the situation, but to wait until the crossing is clear," the decision declares.

Must Exercise Vigilance.
"Many automobile drivers," continued the court, "seem to imagine that with the shift of the signal they are given a clear right-of-way against intersecting traffic. In this belief they recklessly start their machines regardless of persons who are already on the intersection. It is the duty of drivers of machines to exercise greatest vigilance and care under such circumstances and not only to have their machines under control, but to stop and wait until pedestrians have had an opportunity to clear the crossing. Failure to observe these precautions constitutes negligence on the part of the driver, which, in case of accident, is chargeable to him."

Few Bad Driving Habits Among Average Drivers

When a motor car engine heats persistently for no apparent reason. It often is due to bad driving practices. Keeping the foot continually on the clutch pedal while driving will cause the clutch to slip and make the engine labor. Keeping a foot on the brake pedal also may make the car pull hard and cause overheating. Some drivers fail to advance the spark after starting the engine. This causes the engine to overheat. The spark should be kept as far advanced as possible. The excessive use of low gear when it is not necessary or the failure to shift the low gear when the car is laboring in sand or mud or up a steep grade, also will cause the engine to overheat.

Overheating reduces the engine's power and increases the wear. The cause should be traced and the trouble removed as soon as possible.

Safety Workers Now Use Billboards in Campaign

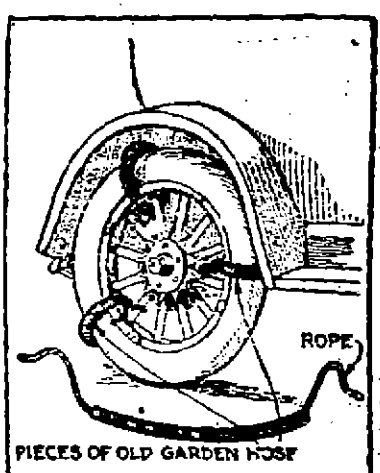

Traffic safety, expounded by pretty nearly every conceivable means, now is being preached in Greater Cleveland by means of the billboard. Six large billboards, scattered about in every section of the metropolitan area, have been placarded with "Drive Safely" designs. Eight to ten additional billboards will be placarded with similar designs. This unique method of impressing upon a careless citizenry the need for driving and walking safely in the public thoroughfares results from the joint efforts of the Cleveland Automobile Club, the Cleveland Safety Council, and the General Outdoor Advertising Company. This latter company donating the billboards.

Mythic Court Card Party.
MYTHIC COURT, No. 62, Order of the Amazons, will hold a card party at the Masonic Club rooms, Broadway and Henry street, Tuesday evening, February 5, Pitochie and bridge will be played and playing will start at 8:15 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Emergency Tire Chains Made of Old Garden Hose

While chains of the ordinary type usually will give you traction in snow or mud, it is a dirty job to apply them. And when most of the route is clear, with only a short section of road in bad shape, chains will come in for a lot of unnecessary wear besides chafing the tires.

The illustration shows a simple solution of the problem. Take pieces of old garden hose and through each place pass a length of strong rope.

Emergency Tire Chains made by Threading Rope Through Hose and Tying On.

When you reach the bad place in the road it is the work of but a few moments to tie them in place as shown. They can be removed with equal facility when the bad part of the road is left behind. Pieces of hose attached in this way are particularly effective in deep, soft snow but they are, of course, no good on ice, where ordinary chains should be used.—Popular Science Monthly.

Yellowstone National Park Was First Choice

"Yellowstone National park was by far the first choice, the past season of motorists who had from two to three weeks for their vacation," says Bert Vanderwarf, manager of the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor Club.
"Second choice was the Rocky Mountain National park, and nearby Colorado Springs and Pike's peak," continued Mr. Vanderwarf. "The Black Hills of South Dakota ran third. The natural freaks of Yellowstone, and their comparatively short distance of 1,500 miles from Chicago, lured these thousands of car owners."
"The majority of those who had from seven to nine weeks at their disposal headed their cars for the Grand canyon, while Glacier National park was the next most popular destination. Many motorists in this class also toured through Yosemite, Lassen, Sequoia and General Grant National parks, all in California. Traffic in all parks the past season showed an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent over 1927."

AUTOMOBILE ITEMS

Most traffic reformers are just persons who would change the ways of others.

Give the radiator hose connections a good coating of shellac to keep oil away from the rubber.

The next great battle is whether the radio will keep them at home or the auto away from home.

Fashion says that in the splashy season the proper idea is to carry spare stockings. Some of them seen on the streets certainly look spare enough.

Within twenty years street car transportation will be a thing of the past, according to F. R. Fagool, auto coach manufacturer. It will be replaced by the motor bus and coach, he asserts.

Safety experts and psychologists who have studied the "jay walking" problem like it to be the "best" train to the crossing" situation. In both cases a split of race causes the careless pedestrian or reckless autoist to court danger.

A razor ten thousand years old has been unearthed in the ruins of Ur, and excavators have redoubled their efforts to locate the hot towel.

Shriners' Ball Wednesday Night

Samuel J. Messenger, chairman of the armory committee, says that no one need remain home from the big Shriners' entertainment and ball Wednesday evening to obtain a good seat as his committee will see to it that there will be plenty of good seats provided and placed in the most advantageous position so that all may very easily see and hear the entertainment.

Harry R. LeFever, chairman of the floor committee, states that his committee will be out in full force to usher everyone promptly to a good seat.

The armory will be delightfully decorated under the direction of Frank L. Brown and his decorating committee as they have worked out a plan that will be quite out of the ordinary and will be well worth seeing.

The results of the publicity committee under the efficient chairmanship of Raymond E. Craft is being seen more and more clearly as each day goes by.

The big armory doors will swing open at 7 o'clock and the entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock so that everyone is urged to be in their places early, in order that they may not miss any of the good things being prepared for them.

All the proceeds, of course, will be turned over to the Industrial Home.

It is assumed that when the next war is fought by radio devices, as exclusively predicted for a London engineer, there will be a master of ceremonies to run the battles off smoothly.

An old traveler who has crossed the Atlantic many times has always said that in case of shipwreck it would be wiser to let everyone else get off and then pick yourself out a large individual raft.
